

Chuanxin Wang, M.D., Ph.D., is professor of Shandong University and dean of the Innovative Technology Research Institute of Laboratory Medicine of Shandong University. He also serves as the chair of Chinese Society of Laboratory Medicine, vice chair of Chinese Medical Doctor Association of Laboratory Medicine, and etc. His research interests mainly focus on tumor marker and tumor diagnosis. In recent years, he has undertaken 12 scientific research projects including National Key Research and Development Project and the projects of Natural Science Foundation of China. For his research endeavors, he has received one first prize in the Science and Technology Award of The Ministry of Education, one first prize in Chinese Medical Science and Technology Award, and two first prizes in Shandong Province Science and Technology Progress Award. More than 100 SCI articles were published in recognized journals and 19 national patents were issued.

TEL: +86- 18560083188